CLOVERPORT GETS NEXT MEETING

Modern Woodmen of America to Hold District Meeting in This City Next July.

FINE MEETING IN OWENSBORO

The Fourth Kentucky District Delegates of the Modern Woodmen of Owensboro, held a very successful meeting in that place Wednesday, December 8, at the Y. M. I. hall. Representatives attended from all the districts.

An address was presented by J. A. Carbon, of Owensboro, who addressed them on Woodcraft, or its purposes and its accomplishments, and was received with great interest by all the delegates. Other addresses were given by J. D. Gabbert, Supreme Organizer Ralph Johnson, of Nebraska, and State Deputy J. W. DeHart, of Louisville.

The convention went on record as endorsing and willing to assist in every way possible the Anti-Tuberculosis Association of the State and its fight on tuberculosis. Committees were appointed in each county of the district to represent the order in stamping out the dread disease.

Cloverport was won out for the district meeting of the Woodmen for the next meeting in July.

Those who attended from here were: Owen Berry, Hudson Bohler, Calvin Robinson, Earl Bohler and Ollie Clark.

Baptist Church Notes.

Sunday School every Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Preaching, first and third Sundays by Rev. Couch.

B. Y. P. U. Sunday evening's beginning at 6:30.

A Sunbeam Band has been organized with an enrollment of twenty six members. They will meet the first and third Sunday's in each month at 3 p. m. at the church. Mrs. Chas. Hamby is the leader.

The B. Y. P. U. gave a social Friday evening in the reception room at the church.

Retires Full of Honors.

An exchange truthfully observes that when James B. McCreary retires from the office of governor this week he will do so as full of honors as he is of years. No man has been in public life so long, and has been a gentleman and a man of honor under all conditions and circumstances.—Danville Messenger.

Slated For a Good Job.

We understand our old friend, Editor Shinnick, of the Shelbyville Record, is slated for a good job under the Stanley administration. No paper in Kentucky did better work for the new executive, nor did Owsley Stanley ever have a more devoted friend than is Ed Shinnick. His appointment would please every newspaper man in Kentucky.—Danville Messenger.

NEW FOUNDRY

To be Finished in About Fifteen Days. Splendid Report This Month.

The Cloverport Boat and Mfg. Co. report a splendid business for this month. The company is building a large, commodious building 30x120 with two annex buildings to be used for a blacksmith shop and a boiler room, each being 34x30 and 30x22. When the building is finished the foundry and machine shops will be installed, all under one roof. The arrangements of the plans and plant and the location on the river front will make it one of the best boat building plants along the Ohio river. Having a foundry in connection they can quickly repair a disabled boat. The foundry will be finished and ready to begin work in about fifteen days.

LODIBURG.

Sam Brown, who has been in Illinois for the past month, returned home Sunday.

We were glad to see Wilbur Keys at Lodiburg Saturday; the first time for nine months.

Miss Ice Johnson, of Raymond, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Grayson Payne, this week.

Richard Basham, of Henderson, visited his grandmother, Mrs. Richard Basham, who is very low.

J. F. Brown has moved to Sam Adkisson's to crop with him.

Winfield Hendry, of Fordsville, came down Sunday for a few days' hunt.

Clyde Gibson, of Missouri, Ernest Gibson, of Alabama, and Huett Gibson, of Bowling Green, will be at home Christmas to spend the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gibson.

Mrs. Wallace Parks, of Frymire, spent one day last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hardin.

We are sorry to hear of the illness of James Hall, of Union Star.

Mrs. Davis Bandy and baby, of Louisville, visited Mr. and Mrs. June Bandy recently.

Miss Blanche Robertson visited Mrs. Wallace Parks at Frymire last week.

Edison Gibson has a position in California paying him $120.

Mrs. Mary C. Adkisson, who had a stroke of paralysis on Friday evening, December 3, is a little better at this writing. She is now able to talk, at first she had to write. The stroke was the left side. Her only sister, Mrs. Florence Estelle, of Louisville, has been at her bedside continually. Mrs. T. N. McGlothlin, of Irvington, Mrs. A. M. Kincheloe, of Hardinsburg, and Mrs. H. C. Haddock were to see her last week.

Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Kincheloe were guests of Mrs. Mary Adkisson Sunday. The heirs of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Payne sold the home place near Mystic to S. W. Davis.

Pie Supper at Harned.

There will be a pie supper at the Harned School House Thursday evening at 7 o'clock, for the benefit of the library.

IS REPUDIATED BY GERMANY

Disavows Rintelen, Under Arrest in London.

Looked Upon as Head of Various German Schemes in America—Career in United States Subject of Federal Grand Jury Probe.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Germany has officially repudiated Franz Rintelen, the German now under arrest in London, who was charged with having financed the pro-German plots and conspiracies in this country.

The repudiation was made in the form of an official statement given out at the German embassy by Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, acting on direct instructions from Berlin. The statement is:

"The German government entirely disavows Mr. Franz Rintelen and especially wishes to say that it issued no instructions of any kind that would have led him to violate American laws."

Rintelen, who was a prominent figure in Wall street at the time the various pro-German conspiracies were afoot, was generally looked upon as a personal friend of Kaiser Wilhelm and as having been the head of various schemes to further German propaganda. Among other things he was charged with being the backer of the proposed Huerta uprising in Mexico, the purpose of which was to embarrass the United States government.

He was arrested in London under an alias, corresponding to the name set forth in the passport which he carried. It is charged that he previously endeavored to procure an American passport in the name of John V. Gates, a matter into which the federal grand jury in New York is now inquiring.

Coming as it does on the recall of Captains Roy-Ell and von Papen of the German embassy staff, whose activities in various pro-German schemes made them objectionable to the United States, the repudiation of Rintelen at the express direction of the Berlin government is believed to reflect a determination on the part of the German government to disassociate itself entirely from these various plots.

Announcement.

I have just opened an office with Dr. Owen for the practice of medicine and surgery. Will appreciate a share of your patronage. Call and see me. Let's get acquainted.

Christmas Services.

At the Cloverport Methodist church the Christmas services will be held Sunday, December 19. The Christmas sermon will be Sunday morning by Rev. Paul S. Powell and Sunday evening Christmas carols will be rendered by the choir.

Gets Appointment.

S. H. Monarch, a young attorney of Hardinsburg, and a nephew of Dr. Milton Board, has been given a position in the treasurer's office under Mr. Goodpaster. Mr. Monarch is a worthy young man and his appointment is satisfactory to his many friends in Breckenridge county. Mr. Monarch will make good and take care of his job.

Wants Indian Suit.

Dear Old Santa: I am a little boy three years old and I want you to bring me an Indian suit, a pistol, drum and five crackers. I would like to have some candy and fruit too. Please don't forget mama, also my little cousin, Margaret Perkins, who lives in Salt Lake City. Be sure and come. Your little boy, Raymond Lee Wilson.

Want Lots of Fruit.

Dear Santa Claus: I will write you a few lines to let you know what I want for Christmas. I am nine years old, and want you to bring me some candy, oranges, bananas and raisins. Don't forget my little sister and brother and bring my brother lots of candy. Put it in his wagon, and you can bring my little sister just what you bring me. Don't forget grandma and grandpa.

Your little girl, Edna B. Laslie, Kirk, Ky.

Santa Claus' letters continued next week.

HARDINSBURG.

The whole world, without art and dress, would be but one great wilderness. And mankind but a savage herd. For all that nature has conferred: This does but roughen and design. Leaves art to polish and refine.

Do You Read Labels?

Domestic science teachers and food authorities are urging the housewife to carefully read the labels on all food articles.

The laws of most States compel food manufacturers to print the ingredients of their products on the label, and this enables consumers to distinguish healthful foods from those which may be deleterious.

High-grade baking powders are made of pure cream of tartar, derived from grapes. Royal Baking Powder is a type of the highest grade. It is healthful beyond a doubt and the safest and best to use.

The low-grade baking powders are made from alum, a mineral acid salt, or phosphate of lime.

Consumers can learn the character of the baking powder by referring to the label, which must state whether the contents include cream of tartar, alum or phosphate.

Elbert Compton, 12 years old, who was handling a 32 caliber pistol. The ball lodged in his right shoulder and while the wound is very painful it is not thought to be serious. Dr. Joe Matthews, of Harned, and Dr. J. E. Kincheloe, of Hardinsburg, were called and removed the ball.

Mrs. Lucretia Simmons, of Louisville, was the guest of her sisters, Mesdames Sam Kennedy and Jim Allen, last week.

Billie Bullock, who lived near High Plains, died November 10 and was buried here the 11th. Funeral services were conducted from the Baptist church by Rev. G. N. Cundiff.

Mrs. Hark Allen, of Brandenburg, Mrs. Emma Chism and daughter, Miss Edith Chism, and Percy Gleason, of Wolf Creek, attended the funeral of Billie Bullock, and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alb Bullock.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gray, of Custer, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Gray Sunday.

Bear This in Mind.

PROCEEDINGS

Of the Breckinridge Fiscal Court at Its October Term, 1915.

At a regular term of the Breckinridge County Fiscal Court, continued and held in and for Breckinridge county, at the courthouse in Hardinsburg, Ky., on Thursday, October 7th, 1915.

Present: Hon. D. D. Dowell, presiding judge of the Breckinridge County Court, and the following named justices of the peace, to-wit: D. C. Heron, W. W. Baxter, C. E. Robbins, J. J. Keenan, Abe Bennett and S. D. Cox, being all the justices of the peace in commission in Breckinridge county.

Came R. M. Basham, county road engineer of Breckinridge county, and presented in court the record book showing the expenditure of the road funds in the various districts and the approximate balance due each district yet to be expended.

On motion duly made, seconded and carried, D. D. Dowell, county judge, is authorized to have the county privy cleaned, and a sufficient amount of money is hereby appropriated to pay for same.

On motion duly made, seconded and carried it is ordered by the court that an appropriation be allowed the County School Fair to be held in Hardinsburg, Ky., on October the 22nd, 1915, in the sum of Ten Dollars, same to be made payable to the Treasurer of said School Fair.

It is ordered by the court that all claims allowed at this term of court be paid out of the 1915 levy.

It is ordered by the court that the following claims be and they are hereby allowed:

A. Mc Meador, jailer's fees itemized, $84.60.

Joe Allen, taxes erroneously assessed 93 cents.

C. M. Heston, express on pauper coffin, 37 cents.

Compton Bros., four pauper coffins, $24.00.

Came Henry DeHaven Moorhead, formerly county judge of Breckinridge county, and requested of the Breckinridge County Fiscal Court that it vote upon the passage of the following resolution, viz:

"Be it resolved by the Fiscal Court of Breckinridge county, Kentucky, that it is our opinion that there is no road law upon the statute books of Kentucky which practically fits the needs, demands and conditions of Breckinridge county; that this court and our county favor an amendment to the present road law which will permit our county to avail itself of state aid, at least, so long as the money received from the state is applied on an inter-county seat road, under state supervision and reasonable regulation of the department, but to be applied either in dirt work, grading and preparing therefor, or piking, as the Fiscal Court may determine; and that said court further recommend an amendment to the present law, or the action necessary to the enactment of a new law, which will permit a vote to be taken in any magisterial district, of any county, desiring same, and the issuing of bonds by such district, or districts, under proper regulation, in a reasonable and legal amount, for the purpose of the construction repair and maintenance of the public roads of such district, or districts, under state aid, and state supervision, or with the Fiscal Court's direction, as may seem best; and, further, that the present law be amended, or construed, so as to permit the construction of metal roads on a lasting and substantial basis, but on less expensive and extensive grades, specifications and requirements; the purpose of these suggestions and this action being not intended as a criticism but simply a suggestion to get a road law more general, equitable and elastic in its application, and better adapted to and more easily applied in the poorer counties of the class in which Breckinridge belongs. If districts could vote bonds, the suggestion as to state aid would not be so urgent, but we believe a majority of the votes cast should control."

Whereupon, it is moved by Justice D. C. Heron, and seconded by Justice Chas. Robbins, that the foregoing resolution be adopted as the sense and urgent request of this court to Breckinridge county's member of the House of Representatives and the Senate of Kentucky, and those in power and interested; and the "yea" and "nay" vote being taken thereon resulted as follows: Chas. E. Robbins, yea; J. J. Keenan, yea; Sam H. Cox, yea; D. C. Heron, yea; Abe Bennett, yea; W. W. Baxter, yea; Hon. D. D. Dowell, judge, and Hon. H. C. Murray, county attorney, concurring in the opinion. And said resolution was thus approved and declared, adopted and ordered to be spread upon the order book of this court, and a copy thereof forwarded to the Department in Charge of Public Roads.

It is ordered by the court that the following named justices of the peace be, and they are hereby allowed their per diem:

D. C. Heron, 3 days, $9.00.

W. W. Baxter, 3 days, $9.00.

Abe Bennett, 3 days, $9.00.

C. E. Robbins, 3 days, $9.00.

J. J. Keenan, 3 days, $9.00.

S. D. Cox, 3 days, $9.00.

On motion duly made, seconded and carried, court adjourned finally.

HAS OWENSBORO

FOUND THE SAME?

The Answer Is Found in the Straightforward Statement of Owensboro Resident.

We have been reading week after week in the local press of Cloverport citizens who have been rid of distressing kidney and bladder troubles by Doan's Kidney Pills, and we have often wondered whether the same high opinion of this medicine is to be found in our neighboring towns. This frank and earnest statement by a well known and respected resident of Owensboro will set this doubt at rest.

Mrs. W. N. Bartlett, 620 Triplett St., Owensboro, Ky., says: "For a long time, I had nearly every symptom of kidney disease. My back ached terribly and I did not sleep well. During the day I was nervous and in bed all the time. My feet became swollen and I knew that I required a good remedy to cure me. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and they are the only medicine I will ever use for kidney trouble. I can highly recommend them, as they lived up to the claims made for them."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bartlett had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props, Buffalo, N. Y.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC.

It is good to think that on Christmas morning you will again hear the old time Christmas hymns and many new ones, for they are only sung once a year which makes them all the more pleasing for us to hear. It is even good to recall the titles more or less familiar to all of us, according to our bringing up. There are "Hail to the Lord's Anointed," "Joy to the world, the Lord Is Come," "Hark the Herald's Angels Sing," and that best loved of all, "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," each repeating in rhythmic melody the story of the ancient chroniclers.

DECORATE FOR CHRISTMAS!

Are you going to decorate your home, your church and your store for Christmas? Green wreaths of holly, hanging garlands of asparagus fern and large boughs of mistletoe make lovely decorations and fill the building with a breath of out-doors. Green and white, green and red, are the holiday colors. Decorate with loving hearts and kind hands for Christmas—and the star of hope and light and love will appear in wonderful reality.

Splendid work continues on the Cloverport and Hardinsburg pike. Those who furnished labor and teams last week were: J. H. Brown, H. L. Stader, Wave Jennings, Benedict Elder, Tom Basham, Ray Pate, Ernest Frey, Johnnie Elder, Floyd Carter, Charley Hawkins, Bohland and E. F. Carter. At the Hardinsburg end of the pike the good work is going on too. Judge Dowell reported fourteen teams, hauling rock Monday. He also reported liberal donations in money by the merchants and citizens of that good town. There are many other points in the county where good work is being done. We are glad to report all this good road work. It is a sign of better times and a better feeling among our citizens. Good roads help everybody.

The Fiscal Court at its last meeting passed a very important good road resolution offered by Judge Henry DeHaven Moorman, and had the unanimous endorsement of the court. It appears in the proceedings of the court printed in another column and should be read and endorsed by every lover of good roads.

Why not "boost" Ernest Robertson for the State Senate? He is one of our best citizens, a young man of character and standing and can be relied on to do his duty as a senator.

Mrs. Sallie Moorman has a Bible 106 years old. "A Bible," said Mrs. Moorman, "is, as a rule, always the best preserved book in a house."

Do not require too much of the girl who works, and expect nothing of the girl who idles.

CORN DISTILLERY SLOP AN EXCELLENT HOG FEED---A NEW ERA FOR KENTUCKY HOG MEN

No time in the history of our country has the raising and feeding of hogs been more profitable than during the past five years, and with the European war on conditions will remain equally as good, with every indication for improvement. The belligerent countries will have to look to America for large supplies of meat needed to feed their population, as their former fields of supply are practically closing or becoming exhausted.

Wonderful possibilities await the stockmen of Kentucky, where it has been practically demonstrated that hogs can be fattened and profitably fed on settled slop. The ravages of hog cholera can be eliminated by reason of the serum treatment.

Messrs. James and Breckler, analytical chemists, Louisville, Ky., have completed an examination of our concentrated settled slop and report as follows: Protein.....1.61% Oil.....0.60%

Per barrel of 50 gallons this gives a net amount of Protein.....6.76 lbs. Oil.....2.52 lbs.

Total.....9.28 lbs. The average amount of protein and oil in a bushel of corn is as follows: (U. S. Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, Bul. 120): Protein.....5.42 lbs. Oil.....2.46 lbs.

Total.....7.88 lbs. According to the above, it can be seen that one barrel of concentrated slop is equal to 1.21 bushels of corn, so far as the valuable feeding constituents of the corn are concerned. In addition the fact must not be lost sight of that this feeding value is in the form of very fine particles, and thoroughly cooked, so that the digestibility is closer to 100% than the ordinary figure for these constituents. In the raw corn the losses from imperfect mastication are enormous, droppings from cattle containing so much feed value on a corn diet that hogs may be fed on them. Here even, with no mastication, the food is all available. In addition it may be stated that considerable of the energy supplied by corn is used in its mastication, which is not required in this case.

This feed contains over 1% of lactic acid, which is valuable for an intestinal antiseptic.—Adv.

A Valuable Lesson.

The National Democratic Committee sustained the contentions of Mr. Woodson that he should be allowed to fill out the unexpired term of Mr. Mayo, for which he was elected.

The retaining of Mr. Woodson on the National Democratic Committee is a valuable lesson to State conventions which undertake to do something which they ought not to do.

Mr. Woodson should never have been molested by any act of the recent State convention. The State committee which met at Louisville a few days ago no doubt overstepped their bounds in trying to influence the National Committee to oust Mr. Woodson.

Mr. Woodson has made a good member of that committee and will continue to do so.—Mayfield Messenger.

Breaks a Cold.

The demand for "Wedding's Cold Tablets" has been made on their merits as a cold and grip remedy. 25c at Wedding's Drug Store.

A Mistake of Campaign.

Owley Stanley was elected Governor of Kentucky and has taken his seat. Looking back over the events of the campaign we can now see that it was a mistake to oust Woodson as National Committeeman from Kentucky, and the substitution of Gen. Haldeman. It was a greater mistake to heap indignation on Senator Beckham when he undertook to have the action rescinded. Chairman Cherry was clearly within the rules of parliamentary law when he declared the junior Senator's motion was out of order, because he was not in the convention hall at the time of the action and neither voted for nor against the resolution. At the same time a bad taste was left in the mouths of those who opposed the nomination of Stanley, and the support given the ticket by the leaders of this wing of the party was half-hearted and spiritless.

The question raised had never been passed on before, and the National Committee by a majority vote decided that Woodson's selection by the Kentucky Democratic Committee to succeed Mr. Mayo was for the unexpired term, and not until the State Convention met. The ruling of that committee is final and absolute.—Bowling Green Messenger.

Why You Should Use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Because it has an established reputation won by its good works.

Because it is most esteemed by those who have used it for many years, as occasion required, and are best acquainted with its good qualities.

Because it loosens and relieves a cold and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition.

Because it does not contain opium or any other narcotic.

Because it is in the reach of all. It only costs a quarter. Obtainable everywhere.

Col. Robertson For State Senator

Col. E. L. Robertson, of Glen Dean, says he is a candidate for State Senator to represent Breckenridge, Hancock and Meade counties. Election in November, 1916. He makes his announcement this early to let the people know that he wants to represent them. Mr. Robertson is a farmer and stock dealer and a Democrat and well equipped for the place.

our beloved sister, Miss Lillie Smith. She suffered three weeks with typhoid fever before she was called home. She was a good Christian and loved by all who knew her. She was twenty-one years old and leaves a father, two brothers and a host of friends to mourn her death, but their loss is her eternal gain.

Miss Smith professed religion and united with the Presbyterian church at Effices in 1913, and lived a devoted Christian until death. She has been heard to say: "I am not going to live long, but I am ready to go when God calls me."

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. L. Brington at the Methodist church. The body was laid to rest in the Scott graveyard.

LAHOMA

By JOHN
BRECKENRIDGE
ELLIS

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company.

CHAPTER XVII. Facing the Mob.

Mizzoo started up, too excited to notice Wilfred's suddenly distorted face. It was, no time to display a sense of the ludicrous. The young man hotly burst into passionate argument and reasonable hypothesis.

Waving aside Mizzoo's protest, Wilfred elaborated his theory of an Indian attack, described Brick's penitential disposition, his gentleness to Lahoma, then dwelt on the friendship between himself and Brick and the relations between himself and Brick's ward.

"It all comes to this," Mizzoo declared: "If you could make me think Willock a harmless lamb, and as innocent, it wouldn't change conditions. This neighborhood calls for his life and'd take it if in reach, and my warrant calls for his arrest. All I can promise is to get him, if possible, behind the bars before the mob gets him in a rope."

Wilfred permitted himself the pleasure of taunting Mizzoo with the very evident truth that before Willock was hanged or imprisoned he must first be caught.

Mizzoo grinned good naturedly. "Yup, Well, we've got a clew locked up in jail right now that could tell us something, I judge, and will tell us something before set free. It's name is Bill Atkins. He's a wise old con, but as far as a balled owl—nothing as yet to be negotiated with him than if he was a bobcat caught in a trap. We're hoping time'll mellow him—time and the prospect of being took out and swung from the nearest limb."

Wilfred insisted on an immediate visit to Bill. "Brick declared he wouldn't tell Bill his hiding place," he said, "for he didn't want to get him into trouble. He'll tell me if he knows anything, and if he doesn't it's no outrage to shut him up, old as he is and as rheumatic as he's old."

On the way to the rudely improvised prison Mizzoo defended himself. "He wasn't too old and rheumatic to fight like a wildcat. Why, he had to be lifted up bodily and carried into his cell. Not a word can we get out of him or a bite of grub into him. I believe that old codger's just too obstinate to die!"

When they reached the prison door the crowd gathered about them, eager for news, watching Mizzoo unfasten the door as if he were unlocking the secret to Willock's whereabouts. There were loud imprecations on the head of the murderer and fierce prophecies as to what would happen to Bill if he preserved his incriminating silence. It seemed but a moment before hurrying forms from many directions pucked themselves into a mass before the jail.

The cells were in the basement. The only entrance to the building was by means of a flight of six steps leading to an unroofed platform before the door of the story proper. Mizzoo and Wilfred, standing on this platform, were lifted above the heads of perhaps a hundred men, who watched eagerly the dangling bunch of keys. Mizzoo had stationed three deputies at the foot of the steps to keep back the mob, for if the excited men once rushed into the jail nothing could check their course.

Mizzoo whispered to Wilfred, "We'd better get in as quick as possible." The words were lost in the increasing roar of voices. He spoke again: "When I swing open the door that bunch will try to make a run for it. You jump inside and I'll be after you like a shot. We'll lock ourselves in!"

"Hey, Mizzoo!" shouted a voice from the crowd, "bring out that old cuss. Drag him to the platform, we want to hear what he's got to say."

"Say, Mr. Sheriff!" Tell him if he won't come to us, we'll go to him. We've got to know where Brick Willock's hiding, and that's all about it."

"Sure!" growled a third. "What kind of a towie is this anyway? A refuge for highwaymen and murderers?"

A struggle took place at the foot of the stairs, not so good naturedly as heretofore. A reasoning voice was heard: "Just let me say a word to the boys."

"Yes!" called others, "let's hear him!" There was a surging forward, and a man was lifted literally over the heads of the three deputies. He reached the platform breathless, disheveled, but triumphant. It was the survivor of Red Kimball's band.

Mizzoo, mistaking his coming for a general rush, had hastily unlocked the door, and he and Wilfred defended themselves with drawn revolvers. "I ain't up here to do no harm," called the ex-highwayman. "I ain't got the spirit for warfare. My chief is killed, my purds is dead. Even that innocent stage driver what knew nothing of us is killed in the attack that Brick Willock made on us in the dark and behind our backs. How're you going to grow when the whole world knows you ain't nothing but a den of snakes? You may claim it's all Brick Willock, say if he's bigger than the town, if he murders and stabs and you can't help it, then the town ain't as good as him. My life's in danger. I don't know if I'll draw another breath. What kind of a reputation is that for you to send abroad? There's a man in this jail can tell you where Willock's hiding. Good day!"

The speaker was down the steps in two leaps, and the deputies drew aside to let him pass out. Civic pride, above all, civic ambition, had been touched to the quick. A hoarse roar followed the speech, and cries for Bill grew frantic. Mizzoo, afraid to unlock the door, stared at Wilfred in perplexity.

"I told you they had civilization on the brain," he muttered. "The old times are past. I darren't make a move toward that lock."

"Drop the keys behind you—I'll get 'em," Wilfred murmured. "Step a little forward. Say something to 'em."

"Ain't got nothing to say," growled Mizzoo, glaring at the mob. "These boys are in the right of it; that's how I feel—cuss that obstinate old bobcat! It's his own fault if they string him up."

"Here they come!" Wilfred exclaimed. "Steady now, old Mizzoo—we've whipped packs of wolves before today—coyotes crazy with hunger—big gray loafers in the rocks—eh, Mizzoo?" He shouted to the deputies who had been pushed against the railing. "Give it to 'em, boys!"

But the deputies did not fire, and the mob, though chafing with mad impatience, did not advance. It was a single figure that swept up the steps, unobstructed, aided, indeed, by the mass of packed men in the street—a figure slight and erect, tingling with the necessity of action to which every vein and muscle responded, tingling so vitally, so electrically, that the crowd also tingled, not understanding, but none the less thrilled.

"Lahoma!" Wilfred was at her side. "You here?"

"Yes, I'm here," she returned breathlessly, her face flaming with excitement.

"How're you going to grow when the whole world knows you ain't nothing but a den of snakes?"

ment. "I'm going to talk to these people. Let me have that!" She took the revolver from the unresisting hand, uncocked it and slipped it into her bosom. Then she faced the mob and held up her empty hand.

It was the first time Lahoma had ever faced an audience larger than that composed of Brick and Bill and Wilfred. After her uplifted hand had brought tense silence she stood at a loss, her eyes big with the appeal her tongue refused to utter.

The mob was awed by that light in her eyes, by the crimson in her cheeks, by her beauty, freshness and grace. They would not proceed to violence while she stood there facing them. Her power she recognized, but she understood it was that of physical presence. When she was gone her influence would depart. They knew Brick and Bill had sheltered her from her tenderest years; they admired her fidelity. Whatever she might say to try to move their hearts would come from a sense of gratitude and would be received in tolerant silence. The more guilty the highwaymen the more commendable her loyalty. But it would not change their purpose. As if waiting for a storm to pass they stood stolid and close mouthed, slightly bent forward, unresisting, but unmoved.

"I'm a western girl," Lahoma said at last, "and ever since Brick Willock gave me a home when I had none I've lived right over yonder at the foot of the mountains. I was there when the outlaws came, before the Indians had given up this country, and I was here when the first settlers moved in and when the soldiers drove them out. I was living in the cave with Brick Willock when people came up from Texas and planted miles and miles of wheat, and I used to play with the rusty plows and machinery they left scattered about after the three years' drought had starved them back to their homes. Then Old Man Walker came to Red River, sent his cowboys to drive us out of the cave, and your sheriff led the bunch. And it was Brick and myself that stood them off with our guns, our backs to the wall and our powder dry, and we never saw Mizzoo in our cave again. So you see

I ought to be able to talk to western men in a way they can appreciate, and if there's anybody here that's not a western man—he couldn't understand our style anyhow—he'd better go where he's needed, for out west you need only western men—like Brick Willock, for instance."

At reference to the well known incident of Mizzoo's attempt to drive Willock from the cave there was a sudden wave of laughter, none the less hearty because Mizzoo's face had flushed and his mouth had opened sheepishly. But at the recurrence of Willock's name the crowd grew serious. They felt the justice of her claim that out west only western men were needed; they excused her for thinking Brick a model type. But let any one else hold him up before them as a model!

Lahoma's manner changed. It grew deeper and more forceful.

"Men, I want to talk to you about this case. Will you be the jury? Consider what kind of man swore out that warrant against Brick—the leader of a band of highwaymen! And who's his chief witness? You don't know Mr. Gledware, I do. You've heard he's a rich and influential citizen in the east. That's true. But I'm going to tell you something to show what he is, and what Brick Willock is—just one thing, that's all I'll say about the character of either. As to Red Kimball, you don't have to be told. I'm not going to talk about the general features of the case—as to whether Brick was ever a highwayman or not, as to whether he killed Red's brother to save me and my stepfather, or did it in cold blood; as to whether he held up the stage or not. These things you've discussed. You've formed opinions about them. I want to tell you something you haven't heard. Will you listen?"

At first no one spoke. Then from the crowd came a measured impartial voice: "We got lots of time."

She was not discouraged by the intimation in the tone that all her speaking was in vain and plunged into the midst of her narrative.

"One evening Brick came on a deserted mover's wagon. He'd traveled all day with nothing to eat or drink, and he got into the wagon to escape the blistering sun. In there he found a dead woman, stretched on her pallet. He had a great curiosity to see her face, so he began lifting the cloth that covered her. He saw a pearl and onyx pin at her throat. It looked like one his mother used to wear. So he dropped the cloth and never looked at her face. She had died the evening before, and he knew she wouldn't have wanted any one to see her there. And he dug a grave in the sand, though she was nothing to him, and hurried her—never seeing her face—and covered the spot with a great pyramid of stones and prayed for her little girl—I was her little girl. The Indians had carried me away. You'll say that was a little thing; that anybody would have buried the poor, helpless body. Maybe so. But about not looking at her face—well, I don't know. It was a little thing, of course, but somehow it just seems to show that Brick Willock wasn't little—had something great in his soul, you know. Seems to show that he couldn't have been a common murderer. It's something you'll have to feel for yourselves. Nobody could explain it so you'd see if you don't understand already."

The men stared at her, somewhat bewildered, saying nothing. In some breasts a sense of something delicate, not to be defied, was stirred.

Wants Hobby Horse.

Dear Santa Claus:—Please bring me a hobby horse, a horn, knife, a small train of cars, roman candles, sparklers and lot of good things to eat. And please don't forget my brother and sisters and my little friends.

Your little friend,
William McGovern,

To Farmers & Stockmen

It is the report that the prevailing low prices of hogs is due to the cause of the corn crop failure in the State of Iowa which is a large hog-raising center. The farmers and stockmen of the State are forced to sacrifice their holdings, on account of having only produced one-fourth of their normal crop, and the present high price of corn makes feeding there prohibitive.

The dumping of all this stock on the market has influenced, downward, the general market. However, these conditions are only temporary, and are bound to have a reactionary effect.

Now is the time to buy feeders, when the price is low. Fatten them for the spring market, when the high prices will again prevail.

We can furnish Distillery Slop in tank cars containing 130 barrels to any point on the L. & H. & St. L. between Stanley and Medora, Ky., at a cost per barrel of one-third of the selling price of a bushel of corn, which has a little better than an equivalent feeding value.

Any one desiring the Agency between the points above mentioned, will please write us at once.

MAKE SOMEBODY HAPPY WITH A KODAK!

If Father only knew how much I wanted a Kodak

Home memories that are cherished most are those of the great home day—Christmas. Better than mere memory thought, is the pictured story of the family reunion; the happy children, the gay young folks, the grown-up boys and girls back home again. The pictures taken with a Christmas Kodak will give pleasure the whole year round and for all the years to come.

Brownies, $1.00 to $10.00 ————— Kodaks, $5.00 to $50.00.
